To Whom It May Concern:

I, Kathryn Devoli, state that the following is true and correct based on my personal knowledge and interactions with PF Lazor.

I was born to a family of California pioneers -- my great-grandparents founded the city of Vista. My grandfather was a well respected real estate developer, and my grandmother was a leader in civic affairs and Republican politics, on both local and national levels. My father served as a Ranger in World War II, and in October was honored by President Bush at the White House. My mother, now deceased, was a professor at San Jose State University.

I graduated from the University of Colorado in 1982 and from the Denver Paralegal Institute in 1987. I currently work as a certified paralegal specializing in criminal defense.

I met PF Lazor in 1988 through a mutual friend. In the past year, we have spent countless hours sharing the ups and downs of our lives. PF is as compassionate a person as I have ever met. He is generous with his time and energy, often spending hours, days or even weeks to make special gifts for those he loves. My three daughters, aged 11, 7 and 4, visit PF in prison frequently. He has established a very nurturing relationship with the girls, inspiring them to broaden their horizons but also to find happiness in little ways.

Despite his incarceration, PF's incredible strength of self has allowed him to retain the truly good qualities that have endeared him to countless number of people whose lives he has touched in a meaningful way. PF's prison songs tell a story of great suffering, but are the work of a man with an indomitable spirit. As someone who interacts with prisoners on an almost daily basis, through my work, I can objectively but vehemently state that PF Lazor is not a criminal, and has broken no laws of man or God. He deserves his chance to prove this to a jury.

I state that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.
