To whom it may concern:

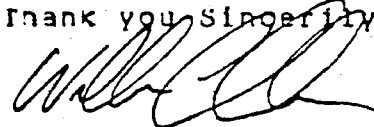

In August of 1982 I took a training class to learn how to Skydive. This class was conducted by the California Parachute club. At this training class I met P F Lazor. He was assisting the instructor that we had. This he needed to do because he wanted to obtain his jumpmaster rating so that he could assist student jumpers to meet there requirements to becoming lincensed parachustes. In dealing with P F at this training class I noted that ne took great care insuring that the students ne was helping understood the instructions that the instructor had given us. He was very responsive to any questions that we had and made an effort to relieve any doubts that we had.

Since that time I have continued skydiving and Iam currently still taking student training at the same location. During the interviening time PF received his jumpmaster rating and was my jumpmaster on several dives. He was a very helpful jumpmaster and took extra time in advising me on technique.

During the course of these jumps PF and I formed an relationship revolving around skydiving. When we were not jumping we would relate interests to each other. I found PF to be a very intelligent person. He is very aware of local and world events with a concern for other people and there rights. At the drop zone he is a very personable and gets along with everyone. In the time that I have known PF I have assest him to be a type of person that I enjoy talking to and participating in activities with.

These statements I make without reservation and would not hesitate to make again. These are true and unbaised based on my personal interaction with PF.

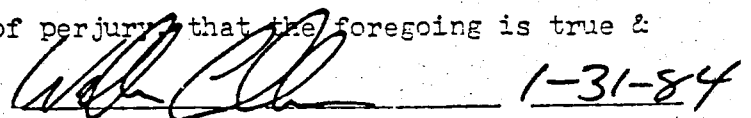

Thank you Sincerely

William Chandler
