

IF I EVER FOUND MYSELF
(In Your Arms Again)

c. 1977

1. I never knew the night could be so long.
I never knew that love would do me wrong.
I'm lookin' for a sign, I can't see but I keep tryin';
I find that every night ends in a dawn.

2. We were tender angels of the earth.
We dove into love for all that we were worth.
But ~~you~~ used all that I gave, till there was no love left to save;
though I knew I'd love you till the day I died.

REFRAIN: But if I ever found myself
 in your arms again
 I don't know what I'd do.
 If I ever found myself
 in your arms in some dream
 I wouldn't know what to say to you.

[INSTRUMENTAL]

3. I've learned to smile when things are lookin' down.
And it's my style to keep my feet flat on the ground.
I know just what to do, when I'm faced with something new;
I can play about every game that's goin' around.

[MODULATE UP]

4. I always felt the truth would set me free.
But how much it set me back is what I didn't see.
Now the evening's turning cold, and the moon is burning bright;
I need anyone to hold just for the night.

[REPEAT REFRAIN; AND AGAIN,
MODIFIED AS FOLLOWS]:

But if I ever found myself
in your arms again
I don't know what I'd do.
If I ever found myself
in your arms in some dream
I wouldn't know how to carry through...
I just wouldn't know how to not love you.

[END]

Written: c. 1977