

(Marry Me In) THE LAND DOWN UNDER

Let me hold her in my arms
to never be torn asunder.
Let me marry her, in her home,
that enchanting land down under.
Let me come to know her,
come to her, in all her splendrous wonder.
Let me be the power of her love,
much as the storm is to the thunder.

Marry me in the land down under...
Marry me in the land down under...
Oh, more than fate, open this gate,
and carry me to the land down under...
So she, oh she, would marry me,
where yet no dream had ere so stunned her,
but this one come true,
in her land down under.
