

MEMORIES DIFFICULT TO HOLD

5-5-15
(#40)

- 1. Deep in my soul there's a feeling
I must reach again
— a sensation from dream-like days of old.
Along with that bag of goods we were sold
with memories that proved difficult to hold.
- 2. It's like a heavenly feeling
from a different dimension,
like a glimpse of nirvana from the wretched cold.
Something I never mention, nor is ever told
*with memories too difficult to hold.
- 3. Have you ever seen through the window to the other side ?
It's like foreign dimensions that unfold.
Basked in emotional silver and gold
with mem'ries that proved difficult to hold.

BRIDGE: But it's there, the feeling's hidden 'round the corner;
if you chase it, it disappears to naught.
If you reach for it to hope to catch
even a fading token
you'll know instantly that it can't be caught.

[INSTRUMENTAL]

- 4. It's a state of dreaming brought into a wide-awakened status —
but so men can't package it to be sold,
it stays hidden in sacred songs some minstrel rarely told
*in memories too difficult to hold.

[INSTRUMENTAL FADEOUT, OF VERSE SECTION]

[END]

Written: May 5, 2015 [G, M]