

SOFT AND LOVELY

1. The wind chimes, they blow
Window sill wisps of snow
Soon, my love she must go as I stare into the dark void alone.

So what do we know?
And what have we left to show?
Other than the love we sow and it's harvest reaped that none can own.

2. Soft and lovely is the breeze
as it whispers to the trees
Reverently on my knees
thanking He who gives these great delights.

White-covered evergreens
A sign of purity and how it cleans
And the deeper things it means to a longing heart in longer nights.

[INSTRUMENTAL]

3. Did you think joys ever last?
Such toys merge into the past
...bread upon the waters cast
But the return is something even more.

Seeds die to sprout life anew
Its life cycle blooms on cue
As we find love only grew while awaiting what it held in store.

4. Plans and memories in winter froze
Not a single surviving rose.
Every thing that comes, goes to our heart beat's ticking pace.

But not as if something's lost
Though every changing turn has its cost
Trading traveled paths for those crossed
But gaining something better in its place.

Written: November 18, 2011