

SUBTLE GLANCE

3-16-14
(#14)

1. She — pretended it wasn't there
But I saw it break her stare
as I was mesmerized by her hair
A subtle glance that broke my trance . . .
She — right there made me come undone
Her glow in a crowd like the sun standing out — the only one, stunning beauty no one else could see.

REFRAIN: A sudden glance is all I needed
A sign that would not go unheeded Captivated all my senses, melted away my best defenses.
I know I must pursue this dream
I knew it more than anything
— oh, what could a mere subtle glance bring ?

2. Oh, what sensations inspired by her !
Ineffable feelings astir,
the sound of her voice in a whisper
in my mind I knelt and kissed her.
Then, she glanced my way again
I could barely maintain, when her sudden smile a little hidden sent a rush through my body unbidden !

[INSTRUMENTAL]

[REPEAT REFRAIN]

3. Drive me wild ! — I thought I heard her sigh Few emotions make me so high as from a woman's sensuous moan
— Could I ever again sleep alone ?
Captivated, I knew right then and there
if I didn't act on this dare
I'd be haunted night and day
by a dream come true I let slip away.

[SHORT INSTRUMENTAL TURNAROUND]

TAGS: — So I returned the subtle glance . . .
— I was not going to lose this only chance . . .
— A shy smile I gave returned in kind . . .
— She overwhelmed me, blew my mind . . . *
— I never thought . . .

Written: March 2-16, 2014 [L, G, M]

[END]

—
* Fades to inaudible right here