

INTRODUCTION: [RUSHING HARP RUNS]

1. The way we see the world may not be really how it is.
The way we sow the things we know, may be more ours than His.
While His is always perfectly in tune with what is so...
Which brings us back to what we think we know.

SHORT INTERLUDE [HARP RUNS]

2. The more we think we know about this life, what's truth and true;
we climb the ladder into sadder ignorance that's due.
Until we've finally learned that we have earned the promise that began when all this started --- yet, we do it again.

DOUBLE HARP INTERLUDE

3. The more times we go through this cycle, 'seems the less we learn;
Each time we magnify the errors faster in the churn.
But there's coming a time when creation will no longer bend;
Our violations will bring this age to an end.

HARP INTERLUDE, AND FULL INSTRUMENTAL

4. The WORD of life explains the way things are for our own good.
And if we would abide by that LAW, all would be as it should.
We'd understand the purpose from the start through to the end;
the mysteries in all things we'd comprehend.

INTENSIFIED HARP INTERLUDE

5. The way man thinks we should all go, we can depend, is wrong.
But how many will stop to check before they go along?
The blind leading the blind are calling everyone of us to go;
Which brings us back to what we think we know...
(Without checking the WORD)

INSTRUMENTAL FADEOUT

END

* Increase tempo slightly from here on = (intensity supplants "mellowness").

 This parenthetical line: spoken like a moderate, medium-whisper.
